PLENTY Valley International Montessori School held a successful open day on March 17.

The school celebrated the Montessori Australia Foundation and Montessori National Curriculum being recognised by the Australian Government.

Principal Dr Maree Matthews said the open day was attended by more than 200 students and families, who joined in the celebrations and helped commemorate the curriculum’s recognition.

“Such support will have wide-reaching positive implications for our Montessori classrooms,” Dr Matthews said. The non-denominational independent school celebrates global education and internationalism and welcomes students from across Victoria, in particular the north-eastern suburbs.

Following the philosophies of founder Maria Montessori, the school empowers students to think globally and reach their potential through opportunities to understand, create, innovate and lead.

Its curriculum is based on the Montessori philosophy that each child is an individual and learns at their own rate of development.
